EXPECT BENEFIT FROM FOREST FIRE TRAIN

The forest fire fighting flyer which was here during February finished its itinerary in Northeastern Michigan last week at Omer with a total attendance of over 18,000 for the 28 stops which it made. As far as attendance and interest was concerned, it is considered by all as a remarkable success. "It is doubtful," according to Mr. L. L. Livingston, "whether any other project of a similar nature has ever been as well attended as was this 'Flyer'." The real test, however, of its effectiveness is going to be the interest which will be taken in the threats of the "red enemy" and the toll which it collects next summer. We all have a responsibility toward the forest fires which threaten the prosperity of ourselves and our children and the main purpose of this train was to make us realize it. The Conservation department alone cannot stop these fires. It needs the help of the farmer who caused one-fifth of the fires during the past ten years; it needs the help of the railroad who caused one-sixth of them; it needs the help of the tourist who caused about one-fourth of them; it needs the help of the lumberman, the smoker, etc., all of whom have a share in the starting of fires. Team work alone will keep Michigan green. A green Michigan means millions of dollars from our tourist business. It guarantees to our posterity a timber supply as ample as which nature provided our fathers with, and it protects our forest industry and agriculture.

Gaylord holds the record for attendance on the Michigan Central while Alpena takes the honors on the D. & W. The following is the record of attendances, the figures representing the total of adults and children at all meetings.

MCGILLIVRAY SHOWS INTEREST IN PICTURES

James McGillivray, educator of the Michigan Conservation Department whose motion pictures of Michigan wild life are spreading the recreation reputation beyond the confines of the state and are educating the residents of the state to the necessity of conservation, is this year showing a reel of pictures depicting the life of eagles in the Adirondacks, which are arousing universal acclaim. Two baby eagles were captured and tamed by Mr. McGillivray and his children. The pictures reveal the growth and development of the eagles in an environment of semi-domesticity that is interesting and unique. In his lectures which are held all over the state, Mr. McGillivray emphasizes the importance of conserving Michigan's recreational resources in the development of one of Michigan's greatest industries—the tourist business. In lectures at Alpena and Bay City recently, he paid warm tribute to the work being done by the East Michigan Tourist Association and the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau.

CITIZENS MILITARY TRAINING CAMP OFFICIALS URGE EARLY ENROLLMENT

The C. M. T. C. enrollment is well underway and all young men desiring to attend the camps this summer are urged to submit their applications at once. There is a limit to the number of young men who will be given the opportunity and the applications are being treated in the same manner as heretofore, in the order received. To be assured of a place at the camp, mail your application in today. Get in touch with your local chairman or one of your committeemen, who will be glad to give you further information in regard to the requirements, etc., and will furnish you with the necessary application blank. Last year at this time the Bay City District was leading the entire State of Michigan in the enrollment of C. M. T. C. Students and it is hoped that when the next tri-monthly report is received from Corps Area Headquarters that it will show an increase over last year. For further information write to: Crawford County, Michigan; Mr. Clarence B. Johnson, committeeman, Grayling, Mich.; Mr. E. B. Smith, committeeman, Grayling, Mich.

ROSCOMMON CO. WINS GRAND XMAS SEAL PRIZE

To Roscommon county whose population is the smallest of any county in the state of Michigan goes the grand prize offered by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to the county making the greatest per capita gain during the 1925 tuberculosis Christmas seal sale. To Roscommon county goes also the Leland trophy offered by Frank B. Leland of Detroit to that county, making the greatest per capita gain.

The grand prize consists of an inspection by a member of the nursing staff of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association of all the school children in Roscommon county. The Leland trophy is a beautiful bronze plaque commemorating the Nellie Leland open air school, the first in Michigan, donated by Mr. Leland to the city of Detroit. The plaque will be hung in the office of Miss Elsie Galloway, Roscommon county, commissioner of schools, through whose efforts the sale was helped to become such a success.

According to returns just completed at the Lansing office of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association Roscommon county made a gain of 3.31 cents for each person in the county. Last year her per capita sale amounted to but 2.86 cents while this year it amounted to 6.32 cents. Livingston county was the winner a year ago and Genesee county the year before that.

DEPT. APPLIES AXE TO GAME WARDENS

(By Ed A. Nowack)
Lansing, Mich.—Dismissal and detention for five district game wardens, arrest of 138 men for careless and incendiary forest fire setting, a total forest fire loss and suppression cost of $227,927.30, depletion of 1,225 legislative appropriation for forest fire work and two per cent of Michigan's area swept by forest fires constitute the high lights in the 1925 fire report filed by Charles A. Peterson, chief forest fire warden.

Briefly, Chief Peterson's figures are as follows:
No. of fires, 3,855
Acreage burned, 725,928
Estimated damaged sub-mitted by wardens, $474,440
Cost of impressed labor, meals and cartage, $120,042
Expense of regular force, $227,436
Total loss to state, $227,927.30
The upper peninsula suffered from 1,380 fires, the lower peninsula had 2,475 fires. Total acreage burned was two per cent of Michigan's area.

Number of fires by area were:

Under one-quarter acre	354
One-quarter to 10 acres	1,084
Over 10 acres	2,417

Causes of Fires are given as:

Unknown	1,209
Campfires	321
Incendiary	421
Lightning	39
Miscellaneous	196
Clearing	623
Railroads	654
Smokers	424
Lumbering	442

Total

The 1925 legislature appropriated $225,000 for the 1926 season. Several government gave the department $37,080 more. Figuratively speaking, this money went up in smoke and Director Baird authorized expenditure of $191,395.45 of sportsmen's license fees to fight fires. The department undoubtedly will go before the 1927-1928 legislature and ask for increased appropriations.

Dismissal and detention of five district game wardens by Chief Peterson is made for "good cause," the service, he says. Districts affected are District 3 (Marquette, Baraga, Houghton counties); District 5 (Dickinson, Delta, Menominee); District 6 (Schoolcraft, Alger, Luce); District 9 (Oshtemo, Cheboygan, Montmorency); District 14 (Newaygo, Muskegon, Oshtemo).

The 15 districts show less of a fire loss than for 1924. District 12 (Benzie, Grand Traverse, Leelanau, Wexford), under Mark Crawford, recorded 168 more fires in 1925 than for 1924 yet the total loss was $819 less than in 1924.

District Warden William Baird, son of Director John Baird, and head of District 16 (Bay, Saginaw, Charlevoix, Midland, Antrim, Crawford) shows a fire loss decrease of $7,818 over 1924 although his district had 39 more fires in 1925 than in 1924. He also shows 30,068 acres saved from fire marks for 1925 over the previous year.

The New Occupant

GOVERNOR AND WOMEN WINNERS

HELEN LUELLE SMITH

Helen Luella Smith was born in Lewiston, Michigan, October 15, 1905.

coming to Maple Forest, Crawford county with her parents in March, 1915. Here she finished the eighth grade and entered Frederic high school in the year of 1919, which she attended for two years. She then entered Grayling high school and graduated with the class of 1923.

Following her graduation she took a summer course at Ferris Institute and the next summer another course at Mt. Pleasant Normal, preparing an anti-climax to the quiet that accompanied passage of this bill, came the motion of Rep. W. W. McLean.

She taught one year in Maple Forest, then in the year of 1924, she won a few days ago, to give this bill immediate effect. Sixty representatives young by her gentle and winning disposition were present on the roll call, while position and conscientious efforts to six additional came in later, but the fulfillment of her duty.

After a series of recesses, the assembly, by another affirmative vote, since October and during the last adopted the Atwood senate concurrent resolution giving the state administrative board authority to spend as with patient endurance to the end, much money for trunk line maintenance which found her ready to meet her fate in 1926 as may become necessary.

The assembly adopted resolutions of regret at the death of Mr. H. Hutchinson's tragic death by an airplane at Fairbanks, Alaska, last week. Hutchinson, former capital news writer, was met by a polar expedition when he met his death.

REALTY ACTIVITY IN ROSCOMMON COUNTY

Saginaw interests have purchased Norway or Sink Hole Lake, three miles south of Roscommon and have acquired land in juxta-position to the lake frontage. A group of Detroit men is said to be negotiating the purchase of twelve sections of land on the AuSable river, north of St. Helen.

The Wagoner of America are said to be seeking a large acreage along the AuSable for a summer colony. Two miles of frontage on Twin lakes has been purchased recently for the purpose of establishing a Boy Scout camp.

SOME USES OF SALT

Common salt, sodium chloride, is a household chemical of varying uses. Here are some, suggested by a domestic science expert.

Gargle salt and water for sore throat.

Rub salt into the scalp occasionally to stop falling hair.

Keep cut flowers fresh by adding salt to the water in which they stand.

Rub salt on a wet rag with kerosene, wash with this wipe the bathtub, then wash it with soapy water. The luster will surprise you.

A scientist claims there are sixty-five distinct species of women. He must have had the shortest list of female acquaintances on record.

And Now in Closing

The reason that executive ability is scarce in the ranks is because it does not stay there long.

RESPECT FOR LAW

The sudden change in transportation which has been brought about by the institution of the automobile has brought with it a host of laws in an endeavor to control and regulate traffic. These laws have, in many cases, been made shifts and efforts at enforcing them have been sporadic and in the main unsuccessful. These feeble attempts at traffic regulations have, in the main, been ignored, and such results as have been attained have tended more toward disgusting the victim with the miscarriage of justice than they have to solving the problems of automobile driving.

Speed laws have been written on all municipal books and into the state code and yet they are violated a million times a day. True, there is an occasional arrest, but it does not tend to the respect for any law to be arrested for the violation of an act which the arrested person sees disregarded everywhere he turns. Neither does it tend to respect for law to the driver who keeps within the law and sees a continuous parade passing at a speed even double of that allowed by the statute.

The same is true of light regulation. Hardly a day passes without its news story of a traffic accident blamed to the blinding glare of headlights, and yet there is no effort made to enforce even the simplest of headlight laws. One of the state headlights, and yet an evening on a highway will show any driver cars with one blind light.

If these laws are impossible of enforcement for any reason, then let the state and municipal authorities announce that they are not prepared to enforce them and remove the farce enacted, not to mention the injustice done the occasional victim. If the driver gains a disrespect for automobile laws—and how can he help doing so?—and this disrespect associate itself with all forms of law and law enforcement?

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of editorials intended to create in the public a keener sense of duty toward the laws of Nation and State, issued by Washington Press Association and released through courtesy of this newspaper. Sentiments expressed need not be that of the editor.)

MICHIGAN ESTATE MAY BE FISHERY

Large Tract Near Rose City Sought By Government

Washington, March 15.—A private estate located near Rose City, Mich., which comprises approximately 4,000 acres and upon which are located a large number of small lakes suitable for the propagation of fresh water fish, has been inspected by the commissioner of fisheries of the department of commerce and Glenn Leach chairman of the department of fish culture, according to a report of the United States bureau of fisheries today.

It is expected that the propagation of bass on a large scale will be accomplished in the waters on the estate, which is owned by Henry Dewar, and that the young bass will be distributed in suitable waters in Michigan.

The greatest opportunity presented in the project, however, is said to be the raising of trout to the large "finger" sizes before distribution into public waters. Detroit Free Press.

AMERICAN FOREST WEEK

President Calvin Coolidge has proclaimed American Forest Week for April 18-24. The President, who has a keen conception of the human mind strikes a particularly fine sentiment in his proclamation recently issued from the White House.

"Flourishing woodlands," he writes, "mean more than timber crops, permanent industries and an adequate supply of wood. They minister to our need for outdoor recreation; they preserve animal and bird life; they protect and beautify our hill-sides and forest streams; they preserve the inspiring natural environment which has contributed so much to American character."

The Michigan Press Association has undertaken a campaign for reforestation and fire prevention for the wide areas of Michigan that were denuded of their timber in the early days of the lumber industry in this state. The necessity of the use of the land has an actual desire to use the templed hills of the northland again, covered with their growing crops of trees, a crop that will bring back the clean streams and wild life that were here when the pioneers first came to claim the land. Planting a tree and preserving it for posterity is a noble monument to leave behind. Every loyal son of Michigan becomes a part of this great movement.

FRESHENING BREEZES

If the nations of the earth are really in favor of peace why don't they elect Jack Dempsey president of the World Council?

The native Kentuckian who sent President Coolidge a wildcat has a sense of humor. Didn't he know that Calvin still has Charlie Dawes on his hands?

If the parking problem keeps up the fire hydrants will soon have to follow the trail of the hitching posts.

What has become of the old-fashioned farmer who used to fall off a load of hay occasionally?

Probably Mrs. Keese objected to being handed a thin dime every time she wanted a little pin money.

Frances is reported to have bought the Russian crown jewels. Something like the fellow who buys a fur coat while he still owes the grocer.

The week's fiction story: "A few drinks of this will cure your cold."

Looks like the women were full of citizens at last, now that they are going to have a prison of their own.

The old-fashioned girl who understood that dough was something to get her hands into, now has a daughter who thinks it is something to get her hands onto.

Life's greatest tragedy is to become as friendless as a cotton stock ing.

They tried a man in Massachusetts the other day under a statute 20 years old. There's court congestion for you.

Still you can't blame President Lill the story-much for being in favor of birth control when you stop to think of the ten thousand offspring he has to raise upon every day.

In yesteryears they killed the fat calf, but now everybody turns around to take a second look.

They credit a Georgia cornercracker with the expression, "What's time to a hawker?" but sometimes we're inclined to believe it originated in the United States senate.

We wonder if sewage disposal is meant to include the testimony of certain divorce cases?

California reports a seedless lemon. Does that mean that somebody is hoarding Hiram Johnson for president again?

Probably evolution won't be so hard for a lot of us to understand when we get a little farther removed from the monkey.

We'll say this much for the genius of Henry Ford, he hasn't started to collect bones yet.

Just when world peace seems assured they start in to broadcast Congressional speeches over the radio.

And Now in Closing—It takes more than mere obedience to the law to make a good citizen. What we need most are those who see in their citizenship an opportunity for service among their fellowmen.

LAID TO REST AMONG COMRADES

DR. PALMER FUNERAL AT PASADENA MARCH 12th

Dr. Oscar Palmer was laid to rest March 12th in G. A. R. cemetery, Pasadena, California, which is set aside exclusively for veterans of the Civil war and their wives.

It was a very impressive ceremony and was attended by 150 Civil War veterans, and as they walked past the casket each dropped a rose into it and the lifeless remains of our beloved former citizen was literally buried in roses. Besides 17 wreaths were sent in by friends and acquaintances. An old soldier sang "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" and a lady sang, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

A memorial monument is being built in this cemetery, which is to contain the names of all Civil war soldiers and adjoints the Palmer lot.

Mrs. Palmer, it is reported, is bearing her grief and sorrow bravely, and while it is hard to give up the Doctor, she says that she realizes that it is for the best. In a recent letter she enclosed a poem that she says seems to quite express her feelings. It is entitled "Sorrow" and reads as follows:

SORROW

You are lonely and you miss him, and you mourn him now he's dead. But to spare you all the heartache, would you call him back again? Would you want him here to suffer all life's misery in your stead? Would you buy your days of comfort with his hours of endless pain? It was sweet to have him with you, and it's often now you moan, But would you have him suffer, just to keep him for your own?

Be not troubled by the notion Heaven is far away.

It is nearer than men fancy, it is nearer than they know, And the loved ones who have left us, every night and every day, Seem to draw us closer to them as their memories brighter glow. They are safe in Heaven's keeping, they are free from hurt and pain, but to spare our own weeping we would call them back again.

A DEADLY PESTILENCE

The ages old controversy between he-wives and wives, which seems to have suddenly burst into a mighty conflagration, is obscuring one thing that is even more deadly than John Barrymore ever was even in his most palmy days.

We refer to the narcotic habit—a habit that ensnares its victims within a week and once ensnared with its ambition, poisons the mind, destroys the body and wrecks the home, and hands to society the skeleton of a human being, the most detected and impossible of all human derelicts.

The Harrison drug law has been mighty beneficial in stopping much of the wholesale importation and sale of habit forming drugs, but in spite of the law and in the face of heroic efforts towards enforcement by government officials there is said to be at the present time over four million addicts in this country alone.

Here is a situation that should be leaved with alarm. The highwayman takes either your money or your life, the bootlegger may sell you synthetic concoctions that burn for the time being, but the peddler of drugs takes ill, for by degrees, and rapid degrees, he ushers unfortunate humanity into crime, degradation and eternity. Dope addicts are ensnaring their victims in ever widening circles; it is time that this nation become aroused to be situation and scourged them from the United States as we would any pestilence that was threatening our home and our loved ones.

conducted the Vanity Box in the Burke apartments for the past two years, has purchased a beauty shop their welfare. She opened a beauty parlor at the Palmer home which she conducted until they sold their home

the Burke apartments. While here she enjoyed a fine patronage, and has been assisted by Minnie Daugherty, who too is very capable in that service. The latter has purchased the equipment of Mrs. McConnell and will continue the business in the same apartment. Mrs. Daugherty has a lot to her their patronage. Both ladies have the best of wishes for success of a host of friends. Bruce and Lois, who have been attending school here,

NEW ADVENTURES IN FLOWER-LAND

Friday, March 19th, the grades presented a very pretty operetta. It was carried out beautifully and the dainty colored costumes were very attractive.

The daintiness and loveliness of the affair could hardly be surpassed, the children sang so sweetly and showed such grace in their dancing. The closing scene where all the characters were assembled together was very effective, a beautiful blending of natures colors.

The school orchestra played some fine selections between acts. Miss Salling, under whose direction the entertainment was given is to be highly commended.

COL. COOLIDGE DEAD

Colonel John C. Coolidge, the father of the President, was buried where he lived, in the hills of Vermont. It was because of his love for those hills, and his desire that when he died he might die close to their hollows, that he withstood the urgent pleadings of his son, the President, that he live with him in Washington during this last critical illness. Foreseeing the possibilities that the demands of office might deny him the privilege of being with his father at the end, the President earnestly besought him to spend the winter at the White House. But Colonel John, loyal to his hills—and anxious when he passed to die as he had lived on their slopes, refused.

The fact that even while on his way to his father the Colonel died, is something which touches all of us. There is but one cheering remembrance, that just before the President left the White House, he received from his father a prayer and benediction over the long distance telephone. The wire which bound the farmhouse to the White House is now silent and dead, but during the long heart-breaking weeks, morning, noon and night, and even oftener the father and son held daily converse. Colonel John Coolidge, Justice of the Peace, and Farmer, was a man whose greatness came from his soul, and who was not dependent on any trappings of office or association.

When in doubt, shave!

ELECTRICITY VS. POPULATION

That the rural districts of Michigan are destined to have a larger population within the next few years, because of the increased use of electricity, is seen in a report just issued by the Power Survey committee of the National Electric Light association, Great Lakes division. The congested centers of population will furnish the greater part of this increase, because of the desire of thousands of people who originally came from the farms and smaller communities to get back into the quieter stretches now that they can have electric conveniences in connection with city life.

The survey, which covers Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, and portions of Iowa, Ohio, and Minnesota, asserts that 41 per cent increase in population by 1950 will be accompanied by a tremendous development in the use of electricity.

"The use of electricity in small towns and rural districts," the report points out, "is making life there much more agreeable." Michigan will enjoy the greatest percentage in population, the report declares. The state in 1920 had a population of 3,688,400, or 64 persons to the square mile; while for 1950 it predicted a total of 5,800,000, or 101 persons to the square mile, an increase of 58 per cent.

PROGRESS

We make daily great improvements in natural, there is one I wish to see in moral philosophy: the discovery of a plan that would induce and oblige nations to settle their disputes without first cutting one another's throats. When will human reason be sufficiently improved to see the advantage of this? When will men be convinced that even successful wars become misadventures, who can unjustly humiliate them, and who triumph blindly in their success, not seeing all its consequences. —Benjamin Franklin

WORTHLESS CHECK-PASSERS

Despite the fact that banks, credit associations and the newspapers have been issuing warnings against the practice of cashing checks for strangers, the advice seems to have fallen unheeded among some persons whose faith in this sleek and slick fraternity seems unbounded. Within the past week newspaper accounts from at least a half dozen different localities in the state announced the presence of these pushers of spurious paper. Amounts secured in these instances ranged from a few dollars in some cases up to many hundreds in others. There is absolutely only one way to head this gentry off, and that is to telephone or telegraph the absolute information that the check proffered is bad and will be cashed when presented to the person or firm upon which it has been drawn. Don't be afraid of offending somebody by insisting on following out such a policy for your own protection.

THE BUSY MAN KEEPS ON

Wall Street had a bad time the other day. Within an hour the rising values of many months were swept away, and paper profits amounting to millions were lost in a few frenzied seconds of speculative trading.

But there is no need to worry. Honest business is just as safe and just as sound today as it ever was. The stock market is a speculative market, and its ups and downs have little relation to real values. Any example will indicate that. The stocks and bonds of a great corporation obviously cannot be worth par today and half of par or double par tomorrow.

The stock market is speculative. Those who lose money are the speculators. There is no need of too much sympathy for those who speculate; must expect to lose.

But it is a good thing that while speculation may make and break, it goes on, production goes on, sound business goes on.

Speculation in stocks should be curbed, for the benefit of those who know no better than to try the game of speculation.

Miss Eleanor Mitchell, an English girl, recently won the European speed typewriting championship, with 812 touches, or 129 words a minute. This means over thirteen letters a second.

A NEWSPAPER POLICY

At times people come to this newspaper asking that we publish an unsigned communication relating to political or community affairs. We generally seek to courteously reject the publication.

Everything which appears in our columns will be either on the responsibility of the publisher or he who issues a special signed communication. If any citizen wishes to publish a signed communication, he is welcome to space in this publication. That communication may be on any subject providing that it is on some public question in which people are interested and if it does not take too much space. But such a communication must be signed and the publisher of this paper will take no responsibility therefor.

The management intends that its news columns shall be clean, fair and impartial. Any liberties we take with anything and anybody will be in the editorial section and with what you see therein you may agree or disagree, just as you wish.

SAFETY FIRST

Organized safety work has reduced the hazards of railroad travel by one-half in a decade. Records of the Museum of Safety show that one passenger was killed for every 6,820,000 locomotive miles and one injured for every 118,000 in 1924. In 1924, after 10 years of systematic effort to improve conditions, the figures stood at one passenger killed for every 11,250,000 locomotive miles, and one injured for every 287,000.

Automobile casualties, could they be reckoned on a car-mile basis, might show a tendency to decline. Available statistics, however, reveal no such trend. In a five-year period from 1917 to 1922, the number of automobile fatalities jumped from 2,004 to 11,466 in 35 states. Estimates for 1925 indicate that the automobile took a far greater toll of human life in 1925 than in 1924. Minneapolis, one of the few large cities to show a decrease in fatalities, registered 302 more injuries.

It is not difficult to see why the railroads have outstripped the individual community in safety work. The railroad sells safety. The individual community does not. Organized safety work has never been found wanting in the control of motor accidents; always effective where undertaken, it has seldom been intensified to the degree attempted by the railroads. Let a community emulate the railroad in its scrupulous care for life and limb, and that community will find itself well on the way towards a substantial reduction of traffic deaths and injuries.

COVENTRY SCHOOL NOTES

If you would live with ease,
Do what you ought, not what you please.

The fourth and fifth grades are having a review in the geography of Europe.

The eighth grade Arithmetic class has finished Savings Bank accounts.

The Misses Evelyn Lavelly and Eva House visited our school last Wednesday.

Effie: "Because he climbed a stone wall."

Lottie: "Guess what kind of vegetables I have for my dinner."

Eva: "I know you have got pie."

IS THAT SO?

(By the County Health Nurse)

N.: "Did you see the robin today?"

B.: "No, but I killed a fly last week."

N.: "O, well, spring will be here soon then."

B.: "There is right—the air feels like it and the sun shows a few beams of penetrating. Look how it is eating into the snow. Strange how different the March sunshine is, even though the wind is cold. That March wind! It makes me think of housecleaning. This is the best time to clean the attic and the clothes presses. There is no other sun and wind like that of March. Get the moths out before they crawl out, and get the germs along with them. Efficient airing and cleaning is far better than for-maldehyde. No one can beat old Dr. Sol as a healer and a 'Sanitizer,' and the March wind is his aid-camp in cleaning."

The puddles look tempting, too! Parents, do you remember how you loved puddles? Do you remember how you nearly had pneumonia to pay for enjoying them? Then impress your children with the importance of dry feet and save paying the doctor and wearing yourself out with worry.

Have you forgotten the typhoid of last fall? Have you read the state department of health instruction in regard to typhoid. You can always get one at the health center. Now get the old idea out of your head that the only way typhoid can be spread is through milk or water. In this sandy soil the chance of well infection is small. If milk dealers have the disease they can easily spread it, but your chief danger is that same pet fly who never washes his feet and loves to walk over your food, dirty hands and the unsanitary open toilet. The tourist carrier will soon come this way and scatter germs and forest fires. Neither will grow if conditions are right; then look to the prevention of typhoid. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

SCHOOL NOTES

Liberality consists rather in giving reasonably than much—La Bragere.

It is a well known axiom that "No team is stronger than it reserves," and so we take equal delight in praising both our boys and girls basketball teams.

The operetta presented by the grades under the direction of Miss Salling received a large audience and everyone admitted that it was especially good and very well carried out.

Everyone is eagerly awaiting the spring vacation. The last school day in March is Friday the 26th. The Freshmen will put on a program in the afternoon.

The basketball teams are anxiously awaiting Thursday as the Board of Education will honor them with a banquet at the Shoppenagon Inn. Some of the guests will be called upon to speak.

We hope that on the reopening of school that everyone will be over the spring fever, or at least be fully accustomed to it.

One evening after a wearisome test, from my strenuous studies, I lay down to rest. As I drowsed there I thought of the 28 class.

And wondered where their lives they would pass. As I started to doze, my thoughts and my dreams mingled and showed me our future and means.

Kazan was a husky with the wolf strain in him.

Blind Wolf was of the breed and had the infirmity her name implies.

The product of their mating was Baree, part dog, part wolf and with a courage and intelligence almost human.

When You Trade Your Car—

Ford owners are continually being approached by automobile salesmen who wish to "accept" Fords as part payment on more expensive cars.

It is logical that automobile dealers should be eager to trade with Ford owners. No other used car is so easy to sell as a used Ford—because everyone has confidence in Ford quality. And it is not expensive to recondition, since Ford replacement parts are lowest in price.

Most automobiles carry greater discounts to dealers than the Ford—another reason why other dealers may offer the Ford owner a larger trade-in allowance.

But, bear these facts in mind:

The amount of the trade-in allowance you can get is not the most important thing for you to consider. The big thing is the difference you have to pay. And remember, that the higher priced car will not be so easy to dispose of when you come to trade it in.

If you wish to trade your Ford for a new automobile, stick to the car that you know to be dependable, useful and economical. Go to your Ford dealer! He will give you a fair and liberal allowance for your present Ford and will gladly arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

All Tournament Team

The following players were selected by the scorers to make up a mythical all-tournament team:

Cotter, L. McBain, Williams, I. Roscommon, Brown, C. McBain, Robertson, G. Grayling, Stephen, K. Grayling.

Shooting silver basket ball fobs are to be presented to the players of the two winning teams by the business men of Grayling.

POPULAR LECTURER AND HUMORIST

Frank Church Will Speak Here.

Frank Church.

Frank Church, who appears here on the Interstate Lyceum course this season, is known widely as one of the most dynamic and interesting personalities on the lecture platform.

As "Fighting Red" Church he is often introduced, which describes him perfectly. His doughty buddies over seas affectionately nicknamed him "Red," and "Fighting" was added because of his fearless and fiery speeches in behalf of political and moral reform. Through all his earnestness there play flashes of irresistible humor like sunshine on an April day, with exquisite word paintings and striking impersonations. Church has the rapidity of a machine gun in action and the punch and pep of a Billy Sunday.

When the World was come on, Church left his work at whirlwind campaigning and went "overseas," where he entertained and lectured to our boys, and no man in France was more celebrated and loved by them. In this work he was a member of the Flying Squadron, a group of the leading speakers of America.

Dramatic Story Teller

He spent over two years entertaining great crowds of boys and girls. Called the "Modern Pled Piper of Childhood," called by the youngsters "The Funny Man," children go crazy over him and follow him in crowds on the streets.

He is a "wis" at humorous monologues and side-splitting jokes, an icebreaker of the first water. No audience can long withstand his humorous sallies, funny stories and mimicry.

What He Talks About

The Call of the New America.

The Unexpected.

Ginger and Snuff, or How to Land on Both Feet.

Home, Sweet Home, or Sunshine with a Push.

It usually happens that a good lecturer is the most enjoyable and best remembered number on a lyceum course. It is predicted that this will be true here, because Frank Church is continually called back to town after town.

SCHOOL AUDITORIUM, FREDERIC, IC, TONIGHT (THURSDAY) MARCH 25

in the Mt. Pleasant regional tournament, which is a fine compliment to himself and the school he represented.

Course of Many Holes
A "duke" ranch out West boasted a golf course. The owner of the ranch was telling a friend about it. "And how many holes has your golf course?" inquired the friend. "That's hard to answer," replied the ranch owner. "You see, we have all the badger holes filled up, and we're just starting on the gopher holes."

Michigan Happenings

Martin Delaney, of Ishpeming, former pugilist now living comfortably on the winnings of many hard fought battles, returned briefly to the game St. Patrick's day. His fighting spirit and the urge of the holiday manifested themselves simultaneously. While leading a young bull to the market, the animal became unruly and attacked his escort, whereupon the former pugilist swung heavily on the bull's chin with his left and up-per under the left ear with his right, sending the animal down for the count. The bull was a yearling.

It is possible that re-opening of the telephone rate investigation by the state public utilities commission may react favorably to Detroit subscribers, whose temporary victory in obtaining a reduction in rates is now questioned by the Michigan Bell Telephone company in federal court proceedings. As conditions now stand, Detroit phone users are guaranteed the reduced rates at least until the federal court makes a finding on the company's petition to restrain enforcement of the January 7 order on the ground it is confiscatory.

J. R. McColl, of Detroit, chairman of the building committee of the State Board of Agriculture, submitted the general plans for the new $600,000 chemistry building which will be constructed at Michigan State College to the board at its last monthly meeting. The sketches were approved and sent back to the architects, in order that the detailed plans might be made. The new building was authorized by the State Legislature at the last regular session.

Better law enforcement was asked of the state administration by the Michigan division, Izaak Walton League of America at its annual convention at Grand Rapids recently. The report of the committee on resolutions submitted by H. A. Savage, Saginaw, chairman, adopted in full by the division, stressed the need of law enforcement as essential in the interest of more forests, more game and more camping places, which were demanded by the division.

George H. Wigginton, president of the Kalamazoo Loose Leaf Binder company, who, after a conference with anti-Groesbeck factionists, recently declared his intention of entering the race for the Republican nomination for governor, has announced that he has recommended the matter and will not permit his name to be used. Wigginton says that he will devote his energies towards healing the breach in the party instead of uniting with any faction to widen it.

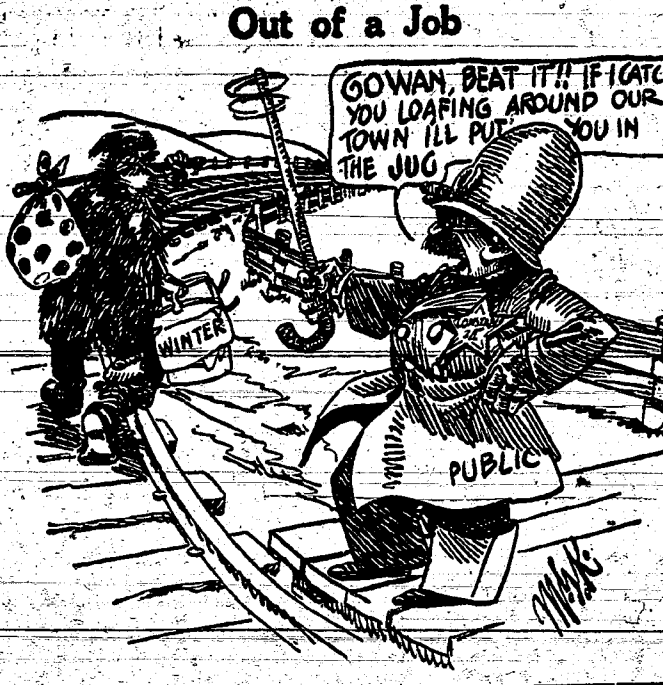

Three students who will represent the University of Michigan in the debates with Oxford, Cambridge and other English colleges in England during May, were chosen after a series of tryouts. The three selected are: Ephraim Gomberg, Duluth, Minn.; Gerald White, Lowell, and William King, Carthage, Mo. The Michigan team will leave Ann Arbor about May 1, with Professor R. D. Hollister, of the public speaking department, who will act as coach.

Michigan's prohibition rally, April 22 to 25 is designed primarily as the opening gun in the Anti-Saloon league's campaign to elect a Michigan delegation in congress this fall that be aridly inclined and contest any attempt to modify the Volstead law. R. N. Holsapple, head of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, said recently. Holsapple made public the league's plans for a monster rally in connection with the nation-wide prohibition demonstration.

Tax collections for the Western Michigan district on 1925 incomes seem likely to equal the 1924 payments despite the marked reduction in tax rates under the 1926 Revenue Act, according to Charles Holsten, collector of internal revenue. Indications are the number of non-taxable returns will be the lowest since 1917. Receipts are averaging about $200,000 daily, but about 60 days will be required to check the totals accurately.

"The total number of illiterates in Michigan," said Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, director of the national illiteracy crusade speaking before the Detroit Institute of Technology, "is 88,046. Of this number 29,954 are in Detroit. Michigan is one of the few states that had more illiterates in 1920 than in 1910. The number increased 14,000. Michigan is seventeenth among the states in illiteracy and nineteenth, based on native born whites."

Harry H. Freeman, who took office March 1 as Jackson city manager, was removed from office recently at a special meeting of the city commission. Freeman came to Jackson from Kalamazoo, where he was city manager for three years. "A number of occurrences," was the only explanation of Freeman's removal given by members of the commission. T. H. Knight, assistant city manager, was named acting manager by the commission.

One hundred and two students are expected to graduate from the state Normal College at Ypsilanti at the close of the winter term, March 25, according to a preliminary list prepared by C. P. Steimle, registrar of the college. Of these six will be granted Bachelor of Arts degrees, six Bachelor of Science, 84 life certificates to teach and four limited certificates while two will graduate from the conservatory of music. Last year at this time 125 students completed their courses at the college.

Gas mains will be installed through out an area of 29 square miles in the properties along Plymouth road from the city limits of Detroit to those of Plymouth, according to a tentative agreement recently arrived at by officials of the Marquette Park Development association and H. K. Wrench, manager of the Plymouth and Northville Gas company, subsidiary of the Michigan Federated Utilities of Battle Creek.

A bill authorizing the creation of a veterans' bureau hospital at or near Detroit at an estimated cost of $1,250,000 has been introduced in the house by Representative John B. Szwedowski. The proposed hospital will be a modern structure and will be used to provide additional hospital and outpatient dispensary facilities for persons entitled to hospitalization under the World War veterans act of 1924.

Lonla free fair fans will be treated to exceptional pyrotechnics this year, according to Fred A. Chapman, scenic artist, who has changed the program from the one announced a few months ago. He has engaged the first show in Michigan of 1927, held to be one of the best patriotic spectacles ever produced. It has been the policy in the past to take the production down at the state fair the year following.

Anna M. Schill, retiring superintendent of the Hurley Hospital at Flint, surprised her friends recently when she announced that for the last three years she has been Mrs. Frank E. Kirk. Dr. Louis H. Tefreau, of Philadelphia, will succeed Mrs. Kirk on April 1 when her resignation becomes effective. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk will make their home in Dearborn, Mich., where Mr. Kirk has business interests.

The pageant of historic Monroe will be represented on the bank of Platte Creek in which territory part of the Battle of the River Raisin was waged in 1813 in which hundreds of American soldiers were scalped by the Indians. The site is a mile south of Monroe city and the use of it has been donated by Benjamin Breeding, the owner. The pageant will be given on the evenings of June 23 and 24.

Seven slot machines of the 5 and 15 cent variety were seized in Brim township by Lieutenant Orva Jackson and Troopers Leslie Maycock, Lawrence Dan and Atwood Pearl. The machines were located in garages, restaurant and oil station. Machines were taken to the barracks at South Rockwood where they will be destroyed.

On the return of the Triangles for a second game this season they again took the locals into camp but not by as large a margin as at the previous game. At the beginning of the season the Triangles, all-star team of Saginaw had it all over Grayling but the game Saturday night showed that the locals had some steam although they were unable to hold their opponents. The Triangles are a great quintet made up of ex-college stars that are hard to beat. Their floor work is excellent and the ease by which their forwards ring baskets can hardly be surpassed.

The first quarter of the game ended in the Independents' favor 8-6, the half showing them trailing 14-8. From this time on the Triangles were never in danger and easily won the game. The final score was 33-16.

In Modern Turkey

Here is one sign of the change of the times in Turkey, which is fast becoming modernized through the efforts of Kemal Pasha. We wonder what the patriarchs of Turkey would say on viewing this Turkish woman, unveiled, and standing on the street having her shoes polished.

COOLIDGE'S FATHER IS LAID TO REST

Simple Rites for President's Parent; Interred in Family Cemetery.

Plymouth, Vt.—The funeral of Col. John Calvin Coolidge, sturdy Vermont pioneer, was held from the home in which he had lived for so many years and in which, three years ago, he had sworn his distinguished son as President of the United States.

In keeping with the wishes of the colonel, so often expressed, and also in keeping with the wishes of President Coolidge, the services were simple. Immediately after the funeral the President returned to Washington.

Rev. John White, the Episcopal minister who conducts services at the church across the road from the colonel's house, officiated. Everything except the precise time for the rites had been dictated by the colonel himself several weeks before he died.

There were no hymns at the funeral. The President, standing upon this. There were no hymns for his mother when she was buried, he recalled, and he wanted none for his father. There were no church services. The simple rites were inside the old home, after which the body of Colonel Coolidge was taken up to the little cemetery on the hill a quarter of a mile away.

The colonel died while his son Calvin was speeding by special train to his bedside from the White House in the vain hope of clasping his father's hand in farewell. The President was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, and party.

At the deathbed were Doctor Cram, Mrs. May Johnson, the nurse; the colonel's housekeeper, Miss Pierce, and Deputy Sheriff Angus Macaulay. All these had been his faithful attendants during his illness.

Both houses of congress, government officials and foreign diplomats paid tribute to the memory of the President's father. From all parts of the country came thousands of messages of sympathy to President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The senate adopted a resolution of condolence on the motion of Senator Dale (Rep., Vt.), and adjourned without transacting any business. The house adopted a resolution offered by Representative Garrett (Dem., Tenn.), the minority leader.

Three weeks before his death Colonel Coolidge transferred to his son Calvin the farm on which members of the Coolidge family have lived for generations. The farm consists of 225 acres with the white farmhouse which was the President's boyhood home.

The colonel died ostensibly penniless, although a man of substance. Neighbors say that all property other than the land was made over to the President during his lifetime. The mouth never knew the value of the Calvin G. Coolidge estate, and the same secrecy was maintained in the case of the colonel's property.

In addition to the homestead, the President owns the Blue Hill lot which is the Coolidge sugar orchard. This tract he inherited from his grandfather.

Calvin Coolidge, a form of cancer, was given as the cause of Colonel Coolidge's death. It affected the region of the bladder, his physician said, with myocarditis, an inflammation of the heart muscles, a contributing factor.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

The House voted against limiting an amendment in the District of Columbia appropriation bill to withhold the salary of any teacher or official who permitted the teaching of "disrespect to the Bible, partisan politics, or that ours is an inferior form of government."

Continued improvement in the relationship between the United States and Mexico is expected by President Coolidge.

Criticizing the delay in the construction of an outlet to the sea for the Middle West, Senator Deneen (Rep., Ill.) told the rivers and harbors board of the War department that what the West wants is less talking and more action.

President Coolidge has accepted as a gift a young wildcat, which until recently roamed the Great Smoky mountain of Tennessee, but he specified that shipment was to be made direct to the National zoo.

Proposals to provide for local option votes by congressional districts in the elections this fall on the wine and beer question have been introduced by Representative Hill (Rep., Md.), leader of the wet group in the house.

Charm of Needlecraft in Simple Tub Frocks

All the simplicitas of fashion point in the direction of tub frocks for summer, made of various washable materials and for many different uses. Since freshness is a perennial charm in summer clothes, the designers of sports and afternoon frocks have centered attention on materials that can be laundered. The new rayon fabrics are in demand for sports dresses, but voile and other sheer fabrics maintain their popularity for afternoon wear. They are usually made in soft pastel colors and adorned with needlework which gives them a touch of elegance.

Why Clare Paved with Portland Cement Concrete

When the business men of Clare, Michigan, decided it was time to pave the city's main thoroughfare, they wanted assured protection against costly repairs. They wanted a pavement that would remain true and even, firm and rigid under all kinds of traffic.

That's why they decided on portland cement concrete—the pavement you recognize by its non-skid surface and its pleasing, light gray color.

Tourists passing through Clare always praise its concrete pavement. Some day they will no doubt have the pleasure of driving on concrete over M-14, the heavily traveled highway leading to the famous summer resorts of the North Country.

Concrete on M-14 will mean a great deal to local prosperity in the years ahead. Don't just say "pave." Say "pave with portland cement concrete."

POPULAR LECTURER AND HUMORIST

Frank Church Will Speak Here.

Frank Church.

Frank Church, who appears here on the Interstate Lyceum course this season, is known widely as one of the most dynamic and interesting personalities on the lecture platform.

As "Fighting Red" Church he is often introduced, which describes him perfectly. His doughty buddies over seas affectionately pick-named him "Red," and "Fighting" was added because of his fearless and fiery speeches in behalf of political and moral reform. Through all his earnestness there play flashes of irrepressible humor, like sunshine on an April day, with exquisite word paintings and striking impersonations. Church has the rapidity of a machine gun in action and the punch and pep of a Billy Sunday.

When the World War came on, Church left his work at whirlwind campaigning and went "overseas," where he entertained and lectured to our boys, and no man in France was more celebrated and loved by them. In this work he was a member of the Flying Squadron, a group of the leading speakers of America.

Dramatic Story Teller.
He spent over two years entertaining great crowds of boys and girls. Called the "Modern Piped Piper of Childhood," called by the youngsters "The Funny Man," children go crazy over him and follow him in crowds on the streets.

He is a "wis" at humorous monologues and side-splitting jokes, an icebreaker of the first water. No audience can long withstand his humorous sallies, funny stories and mimicry.

What He Talks About.
The Call of the New America.
The Unexpected.
Ginger and Snuff, or How to Land on Both Feet.

Home, Sweet Home, or Sunshine with a Punch.
It usually happens that a good lecture is the most enjoyable and best remembered number on a lyceum course. It is predicted that this will be true here, because Frank Church is continually called back to town after town.

SCHOOL AUDITORIUM, FREDERIC, TONIGHT (THURSDAY) MARCH 20

Course of Many Holes

A "dude" ranch out West boasted a golf course. The owner of the ranch was telling a friend about it. "And how many holes has your golf course?" inquired the friend. "That's hard to answer," replied the ranch owner. "You see, we have all the badger holes filled up, and we're just starting on the gopher holes."

Michigan Happenings

Martin Delaney, of Ishpeming, former pugilist now living comfortably on the winnings of many hard fought battles, returned briefly to the game St. Patrick's day. His fighting spirit and the urge of the holiday manifested themselves simultaneously.

7. While leading a young bull to the market, the animal became unruly and attacked his escort, whereupon the former pugilist swung heavily on the bull's chin with his left and up-percut under the left ear with his right, sending the animal down for the count. The bull was a yearling.

It is possible that re-opening of the telephone rate investigation by the state public utilities commission may result favorably to Detroit subscribers, whose temporary victory in obtaining a reduction in rates is now questioned by the Michigan Bell Telephone company in federal court proceedings.

As conditions now stand, Detroit phone users are guaranteed the reduced rates at least until the federal court makes a finding on the company's petition to restrain enforcement of the January 7 order on the ground it is confiscatory.

J. R. McCall, of Detroit, chairman of the building committee of the State Board of Agriculture, submitted the general plans for the new $200,000 chemistry building which will be constructed at Michigan State College to the board at its last monthly meeting. Tax collections for the Western Michigan district on 1935 incomes seem likely to equal the 1934 payments despite the marked reduction in tax rates under the 1926 Revenue Act, according to Charles Holden, collector of internal revenue. Indications are the number of non-taxable returns will be the lowest since 1917. Receipts are averaging about $200,000 daily, but about 60 days will be required to check the totals accurately.

"The total number of illiterates in Michigan," said Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, director of the national illiteracy crusade speaking before the Detroit Institute of Technology, "is 58,016. Of this number 29,954 are in Detroit. Michigan is one of the few states that had more illiteracy in 1920 than in 1910. The number increased 14,000. Michigan is seventeenth among the states in illiteracy and nineteenth, based on native born whites."

Harry H. Freeman, who took office March 1 as Jackson city manager, was removed from office recently at a special meeting of the city commission. Freeman came to Jackson from Kalamazoo, where he was city manager for three years. "A number of occurrences," was the only explanation of Freeman's removal given by members of the commission. T. E. Knight, assistant city manager, was named acting manager by the commission.

COOLIDGE'S FATHER IS LAID TO REST

Simple Rites for President's Parent; Interred in Family Cemetery.

Plymouth, Vt.—The funeral of Col. John Calvin Coolidge, sturdy Vermont pioneer, was held from the home in which he had lived for so many years and in which, three years ago, he had sworn his distinguished son as President of the United States.

In keeping with the wishes of the colonel, so often expressed, and also in keeping with the wishes of President Coolidge, the services were simple. Immediately after the funeral the President returned to Washington.

Rev. John White, the Episcopal minister who, conducts services at the church across the road from the colonel's house, officiated. Everything except the precise time for the rites had been dictated by the colonel himself several weeks before he died.

There were no hymns at the funeral. The President insisted upon this. There were no hymns for his mother when she was buried, he recalled, and he wanted none for his father. There were no church services. The simple rites were inside the old home, after which the body of Colonel Coolidge was taken up to the little cemetery on the hill a quarter of a mile away.

The colonel died while his son Calvin was speeding by special train to his bedside from the White House in the vain hope of clasping his father's hand in farewell. The President was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John, and party.

At the deathbed were Doctor Crain, Mrs. May Johnson, the nurse, the colonel's housekeeper, Miss Pierce, and Deputy Sheriff Angus Macaulay. All these had been his faithful attendants during his illness.

Both houses of congress, government officials and foreign diplomats paid tribute to the memory of the President's father. From all parts of the country came thousands of messages of sympathy to President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The senate adopted a resolution of condolence on the motion of Senator Yale (Rep., Vt.), and adjourned without transacting any business. The house adopted a resolution offered by Representative Garrett (Dem., Tenn.), the minority leader.

Three weeks before his death Col. Coolidge transferred to his son, Calvin, the farm on which members of the Coolidge family have lived for generations. The farm consists of 225 acres with the white farmhouse which was the President's boyhood home.

The colonel died ostensibly peacefully, although a man of substance. Neighbors say that all property other than the land was made over to the President during his lifetime. Plymouth never knew the value of the Calvin G. Coolidge estate, and the same secrecy was maintained in the case of the colonel's property.

In addition to the homestead, the President owns the lime kiln lot which is the Coolidge sugar orchard. This tract he inherited from his grandfather.

Carcinoma, a form of cancer, was given as the cause of Colonel Coolidge's death. It affected the region of the bladder, his physician said, with myocarditis, an inflammation of the heart muscles, a contributing factor.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS

The house voted against inserting an amendment in the District of Columbia appropriation bill to withhold the salary of any teacher or official who permitted the teaching of "ills" respect to the Bible, partisan politics, or that "there is an inferior form of government."

Continued improvement in the relationship between the United States and Mexico is expected by President Coolidge.

Criticizing the delay in the construction of an outlet to the sea for the Middle West, Senator Dennen (Rep., Ill.) told the rivers and harbors board of the War department that what the West wants is less talking and more action.

President Coolidge has accepted as a gift a young wildcat, which until recently roamed the Great Smoky mountain of Tennessee, but he specified that shipment was to be made direct to the National zoo.

Proposals to provide for local option votes by congressional districts in the elections this fall on the wine and beer question have been introduced by Representative Hill (Rep., Md.), leader of the wet group in the house.

Charm of Needlecraft in Simple Tub Frocks

All the stanposts of fashion point in the direction of tub frocks for summer, made of various washable materials and for many different uses. Since freshness is a perennial charm in summer clothes, the designers of sports and afternoon frocks have centered attention on materials that can be laundered. The new rayon fabrics are in demand for sports dresses, but voile and other sheer fabrics maintain their popularity for afternoon wear. They are usually made in soft pastel colors and adorned with needlework which gives them a touch of elegance.

Young, of the department, told members of the State board of health that the vaccine was "not a regular serum," and said that as soon as the antitoxin is perfected, it will be distributed free to the physicians. Dr. Young declared that the research work in perfecting the prophylaxis had been slow because tests had to be made on human beings, as animals "ordinarily" used for such tests, did not respond.

At a meeting of the graduating class of the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, it was voted to adopt the cap and gown as formal wear at commencement or class day exercises. This is the first time in the history of the college that this garb has met with favor. Cyril Robb, of Redwood City, Cal., was elected president of the class.

The late Dr. Sullivan, formerly one of the house physicians at Bellevue hospital, New York, is dead at his home at 91 Pine street, Mt. Clemens. Twenty-five years ago he came here seeking relief from a baffling malady. His body from the feet up was slowly petrifying and for a number of years he was confined to his bed.

Mrs. O. A. Bachelor, of Marine City, middle aged, was seriously injured when she was struck by an automobile and dragged along underneath it when the car, occupied by Irving Nugent and Edward Hahn, struck the curb and ran onto the sidewalk. Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, addressing the Detroit Open-Forum recently, said that, "Standardization is the real calamity of education. The isolation of the individual has destroyed the character building value of the school. There is not enough intimate contact between pupils and teachers, especially in the higher institutions of learning. Dr. Little is to be commended for his attempt to break down the aloofness between students and professors at the University of Michigan."

Farm Bureau Notes

R. D. Bailey, Co. Agricultural Agent.

The Song of the Soy Bean

Strange that there are not more soy beans planted around here, especially by the farmers who want a good, milk-producing hay for cows, and have not yet got enough alfalfa started.

Close Rival of the Famous Alfalfa
As you remember, the feed value of soy beans is almost as high as that of alfalfa, ton for ton. Of course, we are not trying to get you to forget to enlarge your fields of alfalfa. Keep right on getting more of that, until you have at least forty acres of it, but, while you are getting into the alfalfa game, soy beans will help you out with a hay that will make a cow smile from ear to ear.

You Get Quick Action

While you are liming and putting acid phosphate on a good big piece for alfalfa this spring, of course you cannot cut hay there before next year. So, to be sure to have some good, milk-producing legume hay to go with the good, bright corn fodder that you are going to raise, you just put in a few acres of soy beans right after you get the corn planted. You can cut them for hay with the mowing machine when the soy are in blossom, about the last of August. I tell you, they come in handy in the winter. They are a big help in bringing in the dairy dollars in the winter, just when it is handy to have the dairy dollars coming in.

Soy Beans Are Very Accommodating
They grow quite well on acid soil where clover, sweet clover and alfalfa would keel over and die. We have plenty of acid soil. Soy beans grow quite well on a soil that is low in fertility. We have some of that, too. Soy beans are very accommodating, the poor man's assistant, his faithful friend. He can get hay from them three months after planting. They plug right along on sour poor soil. What more could you ask?
They ought to be inoculated with one of those twenty-five cent bottles of inoculation per bushel of seed. This helps them do better.

Seed Quite Cheap
If we get orders enough it is quite likely that we can get the seed at about $2.50 per bushel. Something near that, anyhow.
If put in with a grain drill, all spouts running a bushel, to a bushel and a peck per acre will be needed. One winter our farmers placed orders for more than 4000 pounds. Many a happy user told the county agent that they did not know what they would have done without that hay.

Some keep right on using soy beans year after year. Not a bad plan either. They can be drilled in with a grain drill with only two, or on some hills, three spouts running. They can then be cultivated and will grow somewhat larger. We never cultivate them more than three times on the state demonstration farm at Grayling. Did you ever come down there (on edge of the town) to see what we are doing? You didn't? Well, I'm surprised! What we are doing is right in your line, too.

Perhaps you can come down this next summer. All right. Shake on that. You can slap the soy in with a hand corn planter, too, right in the hills with corn. You can get good results by mixing the soy bean seed with seed corn in the grain drill, but should stir the mixture well at each end of the field to secure a uniform planting.

Kinds
We find that people around here are having best satisfaction with either the Ito San, Black Eyebrow or the Manchurian variety of soy beans. P. S. We need more 11-disc grain drills with fertilizer attachment. It is going to pay us to use more and more acid phosphate along with the stable manure and the green manure.

If you should disagree with the writer on any point mentioned above, just drop into the office and tell us. If you have done well with soy beans, in and tell us about it so we can tell others and encourage them. P. S. No. 2: O yes, I nearly forgot to say that soy beans are splendid for building up soil that seems to have a kind of tired feeling, gives it pep for the next crop, something as clover does, more quickly and cheaper. Good way to do it is: In the late spring plow under last fall's rye; when knee high, roll well. Harrow well. Drill inoculated soy beans right in. Turn them under with chain or plow about last of August.

Next crop on that field will please you. Subscribe for the Avalanche.

PARAGRAPHS CONCERNING MICHIGAN

(By Ed A. Nowack)

Lansing—This is a sketchy review of Michigan's industrial development from Jan. 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1926, inclusive.

Twenty-five years ago the dominant economic interest in Michigan was agriculture. Today the dominant interest is industrial production. It entered the present century with less than 400,000 of primary horse power. This has increased by more than a million, of which more than 800,000 are electrical, giving us more kilowatt hours of energy per capita of population than our neighbors of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois or Wisconsin enjoy.

In 1900 there were a few more than 4000 factories in Michigan. In 1925 there were over 10,000. Total industrial employees in 1900 was 154,558. Automotive and allied industries were undreamed of. In 1924 they alone employed 268,773 men and women, while the metal working industry employed 92,922; woodworking industries, 40,913; miscellaneous industries 92,000 more, a total of 494,608.

Largest employers of labor in 1900 were nothing compared to the present. The largest, Kalamazoo paper mill, had 473 people. A Jackson shop had 350. A Saginaw industry had 309; Grand Rapids' greatest furniture works had 602 and Muskegon's great knitting mill had 660.

Today, Edsel Ford, Michigan's greatest employer, gives work, as president of the Ford Motor Company, to almost 200,000; Charles Mott to 50,000; Fred I. Haynes to 20,000; Walter Briggs to 20,000; Alvin McCauley to 17,000.

The daily industrial payroll in 1900 was about $213,352. Today it is more than ten times that. The annual industrial payroll then was $53,338,000. The 1925 industrial payroll alone will be more than $682,150,000.

The highest priced mechanic in 1900 received less pay per hour, day and year than the lowest priced common laborer today. The annual per capita purchasing power of the workers' families has jumped up to $39.40 for food; $53.63 for rent and $21.31 for furniture.

The dairy industry has been established here in the last 25 years and so has orcharding. The apple, peach, pear and plum crops have added annually millions to incomes of agriculturists. The small fruit and the sugar beet industry has been established.

Since 1900 approximately 1,557,000 of population has been added to the leading industrial cities of the state.

Detroit's population has jumped from 225,000 people in 1900 to a million and a quarter now. Grand Rapids has jumped from 87,565 to about 150,000. Kalamazoo from 25,000 to 60,000. Lansing from 17,000 to 67,451. Flint, scene of the most marvelous growth in the state's history, has multiplied more than ten times. Jackson has grown from 26,708 to 62,000. Battle Creek from 20,000 to 43,000. Muskegon from 25,000 to 50,000.

Out of a clear sky have come four important seats of industry in the last 25 years: Highland park with 60,000, Hamtramck with 60,000 more, Springwells with at least 60,000 and Iron Mountain with 20,000.
